AND WIFE OF WEALTHY CO-SHOOTON FARMER COMMITTED SUICIDE.

BURNED HERSELF TO DEATH

Nurse Who Attended Her Was Also Badly Burned—Terrible Tragedy in Columbus.

Columbus, O., June 3.—Laboring under the delusion that she had sinned against the Holy Ghost, Mrs. Viola Laughlin, wife of a wealthy Co-shooton county farmer, this morning saturated her clothing with oil and igniting them, ran screaming into the street. She died an hour after at the McMillen sanitarium, where she was a patient. Miss Blanche Noff, the nurse, was seriously burned trying to extinguish the flames.

(Special to the Advocate.)

Coshocton, O., June 3.—Viola Laughlin, wife of Robert Laughlin of Mohawk, this county, committed suicide at Columbus on Monday morning, laboring under the delusion that she had sinned against the Holy Ghost beyond forgiveness.

She was the wife of a well-to-do farmer, and has one child, aged four years. During the winter her mind became weak, and in April she was taken to the Sanitarium. Mrs. Laughlin was not violently insane but required constant watching.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rogers of New Castle township, near the Licking county line, and was aged 27 years.

The remains will be brought to Coshocton Monday evening, and taken to Mohawk.

BRYAN SPOKE

Before the Y. M. C. A. at Richmond, Va., on Religious Topics Principally.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—William Jennings Bryan spoke before a crowd of more than 4,000 men at the city auditorium. The meeting, which was under the auspices of the local Young Men's Christian association, was of a religious nature, Mr. Bryan's speech concluding the services. Mr. Bryan made no allusion to Confederacy and did not touch on the subject of the war. His subject was "The Prince of Peace," which developed into a defense of Christianity. There were not lacking, however, remarks of a political nature and Mr. Bryan prodded the trusts, President Roosevelt and Mr. Rockefeller, whose "tainted money" he spoke of with great scorn.

NEXT ASSEMBLY MAY BE A TIE

Political Complexion Depends Upon Successors to Stevens and Ashbrook.

Columbus, June 3.—The political complexion of the legislature which will reconvene in January, depends entirely upon the election of the successors to N. S. Stevens of Clermont county, who died Saturday, and W. A. Ashbrook of Licking county, now a member of Congress, both counties being nominally Democratic. There is a three cornered fight in Clermont. Stevens, a Republican, was elected last time. Now there are four vacancies in the Legislature and if the Democrats elect successors to Ashbrook and Stevens, and the Republicans win out in Ashtabula and Lawrence counties the next Legislature will be a tie if the three independents, who are really Democrats, vote with that party.

Trained Nurses For Schools.

Boston, June 3.—Considering the health of the pupils of the public schools to be of as great importance as their intellectual training, the Boston school committee has decided to appoint a corps of trained nurses. The plan provides for the appointment of 21 women nurses, who will have charge of all the pupils, serving at the vacation schools as well as through the regular school period. It is expected that the nurses will begin their duties when the school year opens in September.

Children Suffocated.

St. Paul, June 3.—During the absence of their parents, two children of Samuel Coplovich were suffocated in a fire that started in their home and a third child was fatally injured. The fire did not amount to much, but when the firemen entered the house they found two of the children dead and the third so overcome that there is no hope of saving its life.

JAPS WILL DISCUSS THE FRISCO CASE

Tokio, June 3.—It is reported that members of the Progressive party will soon hold a meeting specially called to consider the American question and to formulate demands upon the American authorities through the Tokio government relative to the treatment of Japanese in America. It is also reported that if necessary a mass meeting will be called to demonstrate public feeling against the reported persecutions of Japanese in San Francisco.

PASSENGER TRAIN WAS DERAILED ONE MAN KILLED

San Antonio, Tex., June 3.—One man instantly killed and a score of persons injured, some of whom will die, was the result of the wrecking of eastbound passenger train No. 8, two miles west of Loezler, a small station on the Southern Pacific. The derailment was the result either of train wreckers or defective steel, though the positive cause has not been determined. It was while the train was dashing along at a speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour that the derailment occurred. The engine seemingly passed over the obstruction, though every car in the train was derailed, two of them turning over. The dead and injured were in the chair car, this being one of the cars to turn over. Dead: W. B. Locks, Sanderson, Ky.

LINGAFELTER CASE TO SUPREME COURT

(Special Telegram.)

Coshocton, June 3.—The Mary J. Lingafelter case will be carried to the Supreme court at once. Pomerene & Pomerene and Prosecutor Fitzgibbon for the state, today ordered a transcript from the local clerk of courts.

MAX MCCANN FILES MOTION FOR RELEASE

In the case of Ohio vs. Max McCann, sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years for criminal assault, McCann has filed a motion in the Circuit court to be released on bond, pending the hearing of his application for a new trial.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR CATHEDRAL TO COST MILLIONS

St. Paul, Minn., June 3.—The cornerstone of the cathedral of St. Paul, which, when completed four years hence, will probably surpass any other American church in architectural distinction and beauty, was laid Sunday. Participants in the ceremony comprised Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, Keane of Dubuque, Glennon of St. Louis and Christie of Oregon City. The new cathedral will occupy a dominant site upon the brow of St. Anthony hill. It will cost upwards of $3,000,000.

About 400 carpenters went on strike at Louisville, Ky. They demanded an eight-hour day and a minimum wage of 37 1-2 cents per hour.

DUCHESS SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

Recovered from the indisposition which kept him from departing for England two weeks ago, the Duke of Manchester, accompanied by the Duchess, has sailed from New York to Liverpool on the Celtic.

CONFEDERATES TO HOLD A REUNION

Richmond, Va., June 3.—Under dull skies and with a touch of winter in the air, the Confederate reunion was devoid of any striking features, with the exception of religious services in two of the churches and a sacred concert in the horse show building. Despite the unseasonable weather conditions the crowd remained for the parade today and the unveiling of the Jefferson Davis monument, the crowning event of the week.

BOAT CAPSIZED FOUR MEN DROWN OFF LONG ISLAND

New Haven, Conn., June 3.—Edward Auth of Brooklyn was brought here on the tug Wyoming, the sole survivor of a party of five men, the other four members having been drowned when the auxiliary sloop Belle of Brooklyn capsized in a heavy sea off Norwalk, in Long Island sound. Auth is at the New Haven hospital in a precarious condition as a result of hours of buffeting of the waves as he clung to the overturned boat before he was taken off by the Wyoming. The others of the party were Jacob Auth, brother of Edward, August Jaeger, Otto Pfeiffer, George Glazer.

AT THE HAGUE THE PROPOSAL WILL BE LAID

TO HOLD A CONFERENCE AT BUENOS AYRES IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

Which Will Bring the Conference Face to Face With Proposition of Permanency.

Washington, June 3.—The Argentine proposal, which is to be laid before the approaching second Hague conference, looking to the holding of a third international conference in Buenos Ayres in 1910, will, it is expected, result in bringing the second conference abruptly face to face with the American proposition to give the conference permanency and provide for periodical gatherings. The Argentine proposition has not yet been formally brought to the attention of the state department. But it is said to be the purpose of the conference to endeavor to secure an international agreement defining uniformly the right of a citizen of one nation to domicile in another nation and the extent of his liability to the demands upon him by the government of the country in which he has taken up his residence.

Not Yet Instructed.

London, June 3.—Although the Hague conference meets within a fortnight, the British delegates have not yet been instructed as to the attitude they shall maintain on the subjects included in the Russian program or on other questions to be introduced by the powers participating in the conference. This delay in notifying the delegates is the result of the heavy parliamentary program, which keeps the members of the cabinet busy, and the difficulties the government has had since the collapse of the Irish council's bill.

FIRE OVERCAME TWENTY-FIVE ON OCEAN LINER

WHICH WAS THREATENED WITH DESTRUCTION AT EARLY HOUR TODAY.

A RIOT WITH THE STRIKERS

Necessitated Calling Out of All the Reserves, While on Way to the Fire.

New York, June 3.—Fire on the White Star liner Oceanic early today threatened for a while to totally destroy the great steamer at her dock. At one time it was thought it would be necessary to cut the liner from her moorings and tow her out into the river to save other shipping and the piers. After five hours battle firemen conquered the flames. Twenty-five firemen were overcome by smoke before this was accomplished.

John Hughes, a watchman, discovered the fire in hold No. 7, in compartments stored with barrels of glucose. The smoke was so thick the firemen had to work in relays. Twice flames burst through the port holes and threatened the piers. Owing to the strike of longshoremen a report was started that the fire was of incendiary origin, but his is denied by all officials.

A fight between strikers and strike breakers who were being rushed to the fire occurred on the piers and all the reserves in the neighborhood were required to end the struggle.

BOTH SIDES AGREE THAT A JURY WILL BE SECURED

Boise, Idaho, June 3.—The case on the state in the trial of William D. Haywood for alleged complicity in the Steunenberg murder, will be opened by James H. Hawley, leading counsel. This will be a lengthy recital of the position taken by the state of Idaho in the effort to prove that Haywood, together with Moyer, Pettibone, Simpkins and Orchard, were responsible for the death of Frank Steunenberg on the night of Dec. 30, 1905. His opening address to the jury will be the first official outlining of the case the prosecution hope to prove. It is now nearly 16 months since Harry Orchard, who, by his own confession, it is alleged, is the assassin of former Governor Steunenberg, made a sworn statement implicating what he called the "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners in the plot to murder Steunenberg. Within a few days after Orchard made this statement Moyer, the president of the Western Federation of Miners; Haywood, the secretary and treasurer of the organization, and Pettibone, a member, were arrested in Denver on extradition warrants and brought to this state on a special train under circumstances that have aroused animated discussion since the arrest. It is said that the state has in reserve much to corroborate Orchard's testimony. Orchard will be a witness, but counsel for the state does not propose to rely upon his evidence. Every point bearing on Haywood's connection with the actual murder of Steunenberg must, the prosecution openly state, be corroborated before they can hope to prove their case. In the work of securing this corroboration the Pinkerton detective agency has figured largely.

On the other hand, the defense of Haywood has been as busily at work as the prosecution. Other scores of detectives have followed every clue and every intimation of what the Pinkerton agency was doing. A large amount of money, estimated to be as much as $500,000, has been subscribed by the members of the Western Federation of Miners, an organization with 75,000 members, and by other labor organizations throughout the country. Counsel for the defense claim that Orchard's implication of their clients was made out of the whole cloth and that Western Federation of Miners had nothing to do with the Steunenberg assassination. It is charged that what is known as the Mine Owners' association, which has fought the Western Federation of Miners for many years, is behind the effort to discredit the officers of the federation and further, that the defense will be able to disprove every statement made by Orchard on the stand and in his confession, which it is claimed is a fabrication built up to shield himself and secure immunity from the consequences of his crime.

The work of securing a jury to try Haywood was resumed at 11 a. m. Although a little drawn and pale as a result of the medicine and the opiates administered to relieve him from the acute pain which he suffered

TO INVESTIGATE ACTS OF AMERICAN COUNCIL

WILL L. MERRY.

Mexico, via Galveston, Tex., June 3.—News has reached this city that the trip of United States Minister Wm. L. Merry to Salvador was to investigate the conduct of American Consul Jenkins at San Salvador during the recent trouble between Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador. Mr. Jenkins it is said, has been closely identified

Saturday, William Haywood appeared to be in his normal condition. Forty-four talesmen remain of the venire of 61 summoned last week. Only one more peremptory challenge can be exercised and this lies with the defense, the prosecution having exhausted its entire peremptory challenges on Friday. This leaves two more to qualify if the defense should see fit to exercise its last challenge. That they will do so is admitted by counsel, but it is not expected that there will be much difficulty in qualifying the two men out of the talesmen yet to be examined.

JURY COMPLETE

Boise, Idaho, June 3.—A jury for the trial of Haywood was secured today by the selection of O. V. Sebern, a ranchman and J. A. Robertson, a carpenter.

RESENTED INSULT TO HIS SISTER AND WAS STABBED

Mt. Vernon, June 3.—Leon Pierce, aged 21, is dying from knife wounds received from a stranger yesterday. Pierce's 14 year old sister came upon a man fishing. He insulted her and she told her brother. He went to the stranger to remonstrate and was stabbed. The man escaped.

with a Nicaraguan confidential agent Fernandez, whom the Salvador government forced to leave the country. The story goes that Mr. Jenkins allowed Fernandez to use his name in order to get a cipher message through without difficulty; also that Mr. Jenkins permitted the use of Minister Merry's name for replies of these messages from Nicaragua.

PEOPLE CLAMOR FOR SETTLEMENT

French Seamen's Strike Proves Disastrous to Trade.

ALL PORTS REMAIN CLOSED

Strikers Display a Remarkable Unanimity of Resolution—Government's Attempt to Lift the Suspension Fails—Officers and Crews Desert On Arriving in Port.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Thus far the general strike of the seamen only affects French shipping, and foreign vessels at French ports of call are being unloaded. Unless an immediate settlement of the dispute takes place, many industries will be compelled to shut down and workmen in other branches of trade will be thrown into enforced idleness.

The seamen are displaying unanimity of resolution. It is the same tale in every port in France. Not only are ships unable to start, owing to desertion of officers and crews, but the men aboard French vessels arriving immediately threw in their lot with the strikers even though their voyages are incomplete and they are liable to prosecution for so doing. The decision of the government to lend blackjackets at the request of ship owners to replace strikers has proved abortive up to the present. The first vessel on which they embarked, belonging at Marseilles, was unable to sail because its officers refused to navigate it. Up to the present few acts of violence have been reported.

Many of the striking skippers are placed in a peculiar position, owing to the action of the authorities in refusing to accept their papers when presented unless accompanied by the ship owners' written consent, which is not forthcoming. These men, therefore, are liable to punishment for desertion, as technically they are still in command and responsible for their vessels. The public is clamoring for a hasty solution of the strike because of the enormous inconvenience it is causing trade.

Western Federation of Miners. Denver, Colo., June 3.—An increase of 10,000 in the membership of the Western Federation of Miners will be shown by the members to be presented at the annual convention which will meet in Denver June 10. The executive board met here to audit the accounts and consider other routine matters.

Adulterated Milk.

Gomez Palacio, Mexico, June 3.—Adulterated milk poisoned 27 people here, most of whose lives were saved only through the heroic measures resorted to by medical men. Three general dummies were the first to feel the effects of the poison. Orders were at once sent out for medical men to attend the sufferers. This order probably saved a score of lives.

KUHN IS DEAD WAS VICTIM OF POSSE'S GUNS

ESCAPED TWO REVOLVERS AT PURSUERS BEFORE FALLING MORTALLY WOUNDED.

ESCAPED FROM THE PEN

"I Haven't Any Friends I Care to Know How I Died," Were His Last Words.

Van Wert, O., June 3.—Marvin Kuhn died today at the local city prison of a bullet wound received while seeking to escape from officers. Kuhn stole a horse early yesterday. A posse pursued, headed by Sheriff Hott. Kuhn was overtaken and fatally shot after he had emptied two revolvers at his pursuers.

Years ago Kuhn was convicted of murder. He escaped from the Columbus penitentiary and was captured several months afterward in Indiana, where he was pumped full of bullets after pursuit by a posse following the theft of a horse.

He was returned to the penitentiary, where he recovered and was pardoned two years ago by Governor Herrick.

"Never mind what my name is," were Kuhn's dying words. "I haven't any friends I care enough about to want you to tell them how I died."

Papers on the body revealed the identity of Kuhn.

AFRAID OF MURDER AN AGED MISER

Hurried His Old Coins to a Bank, the Amount Being Fully Thirty Thousand Dollars.

Pulaski, Tenn., June 3.—Stricken with the fear that he would be murdered for his money, Willis Smith, an aged resident of the Fourth district, has flooded the county with money which he has been hiding for many years. The money, amounting to fully $30,000, consists of half dollars and quarters of the coinage of two generations ago and does not give evidence of having been hoarded. Smith, who is 84 years old, kept his money in fruit jars hidden about his home, on the left prong of Shoal creek, until some one told that he was running the risk of being murdered by keeping it in his home. He then hurried with it to a local bank and the flood of old coins followed.

SNOWFALL IN NEW YORK STATE

New York, June 3.—Snow fell in New York on the first Sunday in the summer month of June. The flakes were not of the sort that make sleighing, nor did they fall as snow all the way to the pavements, but coming from a colder strata they swirled about the tops of the skyscrapers and before dissolving added a midwinter touch to the most remarkable June that New Yorkers have known. From up the state come reports of wintry weather. In the Catskills where many New Yorkers have already taken up summer quarters there were two heavy snow squalls.

LIGHTNING STRUCK A BIG BALLOON

And an Aeronaut Was Dashed to Death by a Fall of Seven Hundred Feet.

Rome, June 3.—A tragic incident took place during a review of the troops by King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena. As a part of the maneuvers a military balloon was sent up to a height of 700 feet with Captain Livelli in the car. A storm which had been coming up burst suddenly and the thousands of spectators were horrified to see a flash of lightning strike the gas bag. There was an enormous burst of flame and a terrific detonation and the collapsed balloon, with its dangling car, fell to earth a mile from the scene of the review. Crowds of persons rushed in the direction where the balloon had fallen. Captain Livelli was found alive, but unconscious. He was placed in an automobile and rushed to a hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

F. W. Hoehn, 59, charged with stealing $48,000 in bonds and $11,000 in cash from his sister in Indianapolis, was arrested in Wheeling, W. Va., and taken back to Indianapolis. All but $1,200 was found on him.

Friedland and Napoleon.

STRIKING RESULTS OF A BATTLE FOUGHT ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Very Ordinary Combat, but Decisive in a Political Sense. Drama of the World's Events Not Essentially Varied by French Emperor's Victory—Significance of the Famous Treaty of Tilsit.

By GEORGE L. KILMER.

IN a military sense the battle of Friedland, fought June 14, 1807, in Poland up near the Baltic sea, was a side show when compared with the stupendous conflicts where Napoleon Bonaparte led his indomitable French soldiery. The combat was in no sense remarkable. Its chief features have been duplicated in almost every great war. A Russian army of 60,000 to 70,000 men was routed, but how little that affected the nation's fighting power is shown by the fact that a few years later the defeated czar at Friedland led 900,000 men to the field to wipe out Napoleon. With reference to the campaign of 1807 Friedland was decisive. It was Russia's last throw then and about as decisive as the battle of Mukden in the late Russo-Japanese war.

But in a political sense Friedland was decisive—that is, decisive of temporary events. Napoleon wrote from the field to his brother Joseph. "This battle has been as decisive as those of Marengo, of Austerlitz, of Jena." He fought for his own fortunes in all of these battles. And really the political issues involved in the Friedland victory were fought over again in 1813, and the victory of 1807 reversed at Leipzig, the "battle of the Nations." The nations which fought Napoleon at Leipzig in 1813 were praying for his defeat in 1807, but only Russia had an army in the field at that date to smite the usurping emperor of the French. The czar and his political army and his ally, Alexander I. of Russia, sent a force of 100,000 men into Poland against the French invader. An indecisive battle was fought at Eylau in April, 1807, and in June Napoleon took the field for the purpose of attacking the Russian base of supplies at Koenigsberg on the Baltic coast. The Russians, led by General Bennigsen, were encamped east of the river Alle, and Napoleon was on the west side of that stream. A race was begun for Koenigsberg, and Napoleon sent far in advance three corps, remaining with the main body himself. Koenigsberg is on the west side of the Alle, and in order to rescue it from the French the Russians had to cross that river, the only available point for the purpose being the village of Friedland. Napoleon dispatched the corps of Lannes with Oudinot's famous Grenadiers to Friedland to hold the crossing, and the battle of Friedland was opened about 1 o'clock in the afternoon by a vigorous cannon fire from the Russian batteries, still in position on the east bank of the Alle, against Oudinot's line. Supposing that he could crush the French under Lannes, General Bennigsen crossed nearly the whole of his army to the west bank, using the single bridge and two pontoon bridges which he had in his outfit.

Sweeping French Victory.

Lannes had but 10,000 men and, like the vigorous Reynolds at Gettysburg, put up the best fight he could and sent courier after courier to summon Napo-

Queen Louisa of Prussia came to Tilsit. Baron Marbot says:

He invited her to dinner, which she accepted, doubtless much against the grain. Napoleon and the queen of Prussia faced each other cordially. She had invited him in many proclamations, and he had given it back in his bulletins. Yet their interview showed no traces of their mutual hatred. Napoleon was respectful and attentive, the queen gracious and disposed to captivate her former enemy.

The figure cut by Louisa's royal spouse at this time was most pitiful. In the "Memoirs of Napoleon," by the Duchess D'Abantes, we read:

The king of Prussia was of so little account in these conferences that nothing more was said of him than if he were at Berlin. To see a king, for in fact he was a king, following his conqueror with an eye of apprehension, fearing to speak, walking always behind the other two sovereigns, and thus by his own act placing himself in a subordinate rank, must always be disgusting.

The duchess was the wife of Junot, one of Napoleon's generals, and recounts the story of Tilsit as given her by eyewitnesses.

Long before Friedland and Tilsit Napoleon had declared that he would dethrone Frederick of Prussia. At St. Helena he said:

Where I erred most fatally was at Tilsit. I ought to have dethroned the king of Prussia. I hesitated a moment. I was sure Alexander would not have opposed it, providing I had not taken the king's dominions for myself. I might have dethroned the house of Hohenzollern had I ceased to reign.

He added that he would have done so had there been a scion of the branch of Frederick the Great at hand. Apropos of the despoliation of Prussia, sanctioned by the treaty at Tilsit, the Duchess D'Abantes quotes an interesting morsel from the lips of Alexander, whom she met in Paris in 1814. Said the czar:

On our meeting at Tilsit I stepped upon the raft quite determined to sustain my dignity in my deportment toward the man whose treatment of the king of Prussia was, in my opinion, violently unjust. I intended to do much for my unfortunate friend (Frederick) and much also for my own people, but scarcely had I seen Napoleon before I was overcome.

Alas, neither the czar's sympathy nor the beautiful queen's graciousness availed to save the Prussian realm from the greed of Napoleon.

But what the sword took from Louisa and Frederick in 1807 the sword gave back in 1814, when the allies deposed Napoleon from his throne in Paris. Among the troops that marched into Paris at that time was a son of King Frederick and Queen Louisa, a youth of seventeen, who won the Iron Cross for valor. Again in 1870 that boy, grown to be a gray haired king, entered Paris at the head of a conquering army, dethroning Napoleon's nephew, Napoleon III, and was crowned William I, emperor of Germany, at Versailles. So the humiliation at Tilsit was avenged.

A Frank Reminiscence.

It has been said that at Tilsit the czar and Napoleon divided the mastery of Europe between themselves. Napoleon seems to have been overjoyed at the friendly alliance he made with the czar. He wrote at the time to his brother Joseph, "We lived as intimate friends." This is not the language of a boaster, but of a man promoted and tends to show that Napoleon felt that he had reached his goal by an alliance with the Russian autocrat. "I found myself dictating laws, having emperors and kings pay me court," he afterward said. On the other hand this versatile Corsican sometimes laughed in his sleeve at the "emperors and kings" he had hounded with at Tilsit. In talks with Napoleon at St. Helena one of the chroniclers records this frank reminiscence:

"When," said Napoleon, "I was at Tilsit with the Emperor Alexander and the king of Prussia, I was the most ignorant of the three in military affairs. These two sovereigns, especially the king of Prussia, were completely au fait as to the number of buttons there ought to be in front of a jacket, how many behind and the manner in which the skirts ought to be cut. Not a tailor in the army knew better than King Frederick how many measures of cloth it took to make a jacket. In fact," continued he, laughing, "I was nobody in comparison with them. They continually tormented me about matters belonging to tailors, of which I was entirely ignorant, although, in order not to affront them, I answered just as gravely as if the fate of an army depended upon the cut of a jacket. When I went to see the king of Prussia, instead of a library I found that he had a large room, like an arsenal, furnished with shelves and pegs, on which were hung fifty or sixty jackets of different patterns. Every day he changed his fashion and put on a different one. He attached more importance to this than was necessary for the salvation of a kingdom."

Three treaties resulted from Friedland—one between France and Russia, published at the time; one between France and Prussia, also made public, and a third, long kept secret, between Russia and France. This last was practically an offensive and defensive alliance of the two powers against England, Austria and Turkey. A remnant of his realm was left to the Prussian king out of regard for the wishes of Alexander. Napoleon was blamed by the liberals of Europe for not reconstituting the kingdom of Poland. Instead of that he created the grand duchy of Warsaw in favor of his old ally, the king of Saxony, whose predecessors had reigned in Poland. At home he was blamed for not crossing the Niemen after Friedland and pushing his conquest farther east; also for putting too much trust in Alexander, who later turned upon him. He was also blamed for leaving Prussia either too strong or too weak. Prussia strong and allied with France would have been a buffer between France and Russia; weak, Prussia would never have troubled France again for a century. Echoing the trend of criticism in European capitals at the time of Napoleon's fall, Baron Meneval, long close to Napoleon, says in his memoirs, "It needed the disaster at Moscow (1812) and Leipzig (1813) to overthrow the beautiful monument to Napoleon's glory," created by the victory at Friedland in 1807.

COLUMBUS THE PLACE CHOSEN BY TRAINMEN

DE MOINES, CHICAGO AND DETROIT WERE CANDIDATES FOR THE HONOR.

Monthly Report of Pennsylvania Employes' Relief Fund—Railroad News of last past.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen before adjourning, chose Columbus for the next biennial convention by 263 votes to 192 for Des Moines, 38 for Chicago and 14 for Detroit. The new grand executive board was elected as follows: J. H. Rhodes, Toledo, chairman; R. J. Powers, San Leandro, Cal.; Arthur M. Evans, New York; P. C. Nash, Roanoke, Va.; F. C. Lockwood, Chicago. Members of the newly created board of insurance were elected before final adjournment.

Pennsylvania Relief Fund Report.

The monthly report of the Employes' Relief Fund for the Pennsylvania railroad company's lines, east of Pittsburgh and Erie, shows that the payments for the month of April, 1907, amounted to $113,144.41. Of this amount $44,585.36 were on account of death, and represents the payment of death benefits to families of members and the further payment of $88,559.05 in benefits for the relief of members disabled and incapacitated for work in the company's service. Since the organization of the Relief Department, February 15, 1886, there have been paid in death benefits $6,668,108.94, and on account of disabilities, $9,673,067.09, or a total of $16,341,176.03.

Railroad Notes.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MISS JOYCE ASHBROOK.

Miss Joyce Ashbrook whose funeral took place on Sunday from her late residence, South Third street, was a consistent member of the Episcopal church.

She was a lovely character and was always kind and attentive to those in distress. She was particularly devoted to her father, the late Austin G. Ashbrook, and nursed him through his long illness. Her friends and acquaintances deeply deplore her death.

MRS. SARAH J. EVANS.

Rev. L. C. Sparks was called to Croton Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Sarah J. Evans.

MR. PATTERSON'S FUNERAL.

Louis M. Patterson whose late residence was at 138 Elwood avenue, was buried at Fairmont cemetery on Monday forenoon.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to express my heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted during the sudden death of my husband, also for the beautiful floral offerings. Mrs. Samuel Morris and daughter, Mary.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to return our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly lent their assistance and gave their sympathy to us during our recent sad affliction, the taking away from us of our little daughter, Mary E. Hart, also for the many floral tributes at the time of the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. George Hart.

In vaudeville one good turn deserves another.

NEWARK TAILOR WITH PRESIDENT

HOMER IRWIN HAS FREE RIDE IN MR. ROOSEVELT'S PRIVATE CAR.

By Mistake Mr. Irwin Got Into President's Car Where He Saw the Chief of the Nation.

Bellefontaine, O., June 3.—Homer Irwin, a journeyman tailor of Newark, O., dead broke, climbed aboard the Big Four train at Galion and by mistake got into the private car "Magnet" occupied by President Theodore Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks and enjoyed a free ride to Bellefontaine.

Irwin says that when he was standing on the platform a tall man invited him rather coldly, to come inside, and that later a heavy set man, appearing to be a merchant, shook hands with him and asked him if he was happy on such a beautiful morning. When Irwin learned that it was Vice President Fairbanks who had invited him inside and President Roosevelt who had inquired after the degree of his spirits, he was almost overcome and he tells of the incident with keen relish.

Horace Vernet depicts the emperor on the battlefield, giving orders to the general of division, Oudinot, for the pursuit of the enemy.

allies wished to use Napoleon as he was used at Moscow in 1812, smash his army and drive him back eastward over the Rhine.

Happiest Moment of His Life.

The author of "Decisive Battles of the World" defines as decisive "those few of which a contrary event would have varied the drama of the world in all its subsequent scenes." Applying this definition to Friedland we must limit the view to the immediate field of Napoleon's adventures. It marked the culmination of his career as a political adventurer. He said himself that that was one of the happiest moments of his life, "perhaps the happiest." It made him the greatest figure in all Europe for the time. But a contrary event, the defeat of Napoleon at Friedland, would not "have varied the drama of the world in all its subsequent scenes." It would have accelerated the downfall which came at Leipzig to be clinched at Waterloo. Had Napoleon lost Friedland there would probably have been no war of the Spanish peninsula, 1805-1813; no divorce of the Empress Josephine, at least as it was brought about two years later; no Austrian empress on the throne of France in 1810; no Moscow disaster in 1812; no "great coalition" of the powers against the Corsican in 1813; hence no Elba, no Waterloo, no St. Helena. Possibly England, freed of the menace of Napoleon the mighty hanging on her flanks, would have sent an army to America in 1812 to reverse the verdicts of Saratoga and Yorktown in some battle on the Canadian border or the middle Atlantic coast. Possibly too Napoleon, if defeated at Friedland, would have tried to take revenge out of England by direct attack, and thus compelled her to let America alone in 1812.

Very Ordinary Battle.

No, the drama of the world as we look at it a hundred years from Friedland was not essentially varied by Napoleon's victory of June 14, 1807. He used his new power to turn Europe upside down for a few years, hastening his own end, after which things resumed their normal course as though Friedland had never happened. The battle, as before stated, was very ordinary. At the close of 1806 Napoleon had overrun the kingdom of Prussia, seizing Berlin, and passed the winter in Poland. The Prussian king had no

MEXICO'S FIGHTING CAVALRY, HER ENVOY, AND SLAIN GUATEMALAN.

MEXICAN RURALES - ONE OF THE FINEST BODIES OF CAVALRY IN THE WORLD

FORMER PRESIDENT BARILAS OF GUATEMALA.

ENRIQUE C. CREEL, Mexican Ambassador to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Mexico, according to advices that have reached the State Department, still hopes to avoid war with Guatemala, but she is firmly determined in event of Guatemala's failure to comply with her demands to end the present situation with a contest that shall be sudden, short and decisive.

Despite Mexico's aggressive attitude Secretary Root has not given up hope that peace may be preserved. The good offices of the United States have been put forward as a standing offer to the countries involved, but this government cannot, nor is it disposed to, act as energetically as it has acted in strained situations between Central American countries to which Mexico was not a part.

Flag Day June 14. The American Flag Association has called for a general observance of Flag Day on Friday, June 14. It will be the 130th anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of the United States.

Cold Weather For June. The temperature Sunday night at 10 o'clock was 48 above, at 6 o'clock Monday morning 50 degrees was registered. Too cold for corn and garden truck to do much good. Tomatoes that were set out a few days ago just manage to stay alive.

Ex-Prisoners Return. Mr. H. A. Fleming of 94 Cedar street, and Mr. Ewan R. Evans have returned from Andersonville, Ga., where they went with a number of ex-prisoners of war to decorate the graves of their comrades who died in the great Confederate prison there.

Good Gas Well. A special from Otsego gives information that the Muskingum Light and Fuel company has drilled another good gas well on the Richard Boyce farm, four and a half miles east of Otsego. This is the second good producer that has been put in this territory.

Licking Co. People Elected. At the 17th annual convention of the Columbus District Epworth league officers were elected as follows: President, Alfred A. Dole, Columbus; secretary-treasurer, Miss Effie Merwine, Columbus; first vice president, Frank Hafton, Pataskala; second vice president, Miss Blanche Black, Granville; third vice president, Miss Bessie Van Fossen, Columbus; fourth vice president, Mrs. C. C. Smith, Columbus; junior league superintendent, Mrs. D. S. Priest, Canal Winchester.

A Snake Story. Moses Van Winkle has been having snakes again, says the Utica Herald jokingly. Three years ago this spring, in the neighborhood of Bell church, east of town, he slaughtered 40 black snakes. This season the crop has not been quite so good, but he reports that he has killed 37, aggregating in length 178 feet, 7 inches in measure. All but four of them were killed in May.

The Denison University chapter of Beta Theta Pi, numbering 23 young men, and a number of Newark Betas were very hospitably entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Flory on West Church street. Mr. Charles L. Flory became a Beta while at the Ohio State university, and Mr. Walter L. Flory an alumnus of Denison, was a member of the Alpha Beta chapter at Granville.

Contract for New Dwelling. Attorney Carl Norpell has just awarded the contract to S. B. Fristoe & Son for the construction of a fine residence at the corner of Granville and Pearl streets. The first story will be of brick and the second wood and cement. The house that now stands upon this lot will be torn down and Mr. Norpell and family will move this week into the residence on Granville street, recently vacated by the Rev. Mr. Bennett, where they will live during the construction of their new home.

Mexican on Stone Pile. Francisco Posi, a Mexican, was locked up on a charge of train riding Sunday night by Officer Frank Roberts. Posi could not talk English and tried to plead in Spanish. In either case he was trying to plead guilty and was fined and sent to the stone pile. This is the first time Geological Expert McCrum has had an opportunity to teach a Mexican the rudiments of stone cracking. Mr. Kerr Returns. Mr. W. E. Kerr former B. & O. freight agent at Newark, who resigned to accept a position with a big lumber company, has accepted a good position with the Wehrle Stone company.

"DINK" LEONARD "JUGGED" UNTIL NEXT DECEMBER

POWELL CHARACTER GIVEN 198 DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL FOR SATURDAY CAPEERS.

Three Police Officers Have Exciting Time Arresting Man—Beaten by Officer Callan.

Dink Leonard who figured in several exciting episodes during the past month, will trouble the citizens and police no more for a few months. He has been jugged until December 16, 1907. And it all happened because Dink drew his money from the glass house Saturday and started out to corner the booze market.

Just why he picked the west end of town for his operations is not known. He drank in one saloon in the North End, according to his own story, and then went direct to West Newark, where he visited a half dozen, taking several drinks in each saloon. It was then that Leonard became annoying. He tried to force an entrance to several houses, and the women in the neighborhood were terror-stricken.

Officer Daerr looked into the matter after a report was received at the patrol station, but as soon as Leonard saw the bluecoat coming he took to his heels. Officer Daerr sent in the emergency call for help, asking for enough of the "reserves" to cut off Dink's retreat. Chief Sheridan and Officer Zergibell were hurried to the scene and Leonard was finally cornered.

Leonard resisted and it required the efforts of three policemen to put him in the wagon. When he was taken out at the prison he fought still harder and more special help was deputized to assist in putting him in a cell.

In police court Leonard pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs for being drunk, $25 and 30 days for being disorderly and $50 for resisting officers, this being a total of $84 and 30 days. Unless part of the fine is paid, this will amount to 198 days or until December 16. He was taken to jail Monday.

For Breach of Contract. In the case of James Alwood vs. Sarah E. Johnson, the plaintiff has filed his answer and cross petition with the clerk of the court. Plaintiff says that he and George M. Holmes entered into a verbal contract in 1900 when it was agreed that he and J. P. Holman and the defendant, Sarah E. Johnson, who, then as tenants, owned three fourths of the property in question, should convey to plaintiff their interest therein and in consideration thereof, plaintiff should keep and care for Margaret Holmes during her life, and pay the funeral expenses. Plaintiff says he carried out his part of the contract so far as keeping and providing for Margaret Holmes was concerned, until October, 1901, when she left the home of the plaintiff against her will and consent and that Margaret Holmes died in December, 1901. Plaintiff prays that said answer and cross petition be dismissed and that he be decreed to have the relief in his petition prayed for. Jones & Jones, attorneys for plaintiff.

1785—John Godfrey Saxe, humorous poet, born in Hingham, Vt.; died 1857.
1834—Paul Emile Little, French philologist and historian, died at Paris; born 1801.
1858—Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italian patriot and soldier, died in Capri; born in Nice 1807. Garibaldi's life was one of romantic adventure from beginning to end. First an Italian patriot and exile, then a warring liberator in South America, where he won a wife worthy to share his dangers and honors; next a volunteer warrior in Italy, rejected by the leaders, victory and defeat following until he once more lived in exile; finally he was recalled to his native land to become, after long struggles, the arbiter of his destiny.
1857—Cabinet crisis in Spain; ministers resigned.
1900—Clarence Cook, noted art critic and writer, died in New York city; born 1822.
1902—The Pacific company's steamer Arquipa foundered off Valparaiso, Chile, carrying down the captain and 50 of the crew, with several passengers.

THIS AND THAT

Roosevelt says he has no use for the man who is always declaiming an eight-hour day for himself but has no thought of an eight-hour day for his wife. Teddy could not have been thinking of making votes for himself when he made that remark, for women have no votes.

At last Marvin Kuhns has been captured, and is now dead all right. He is said to have been shot seven times in his numerous fights with officers of the law. Lead pellets seemed to have had no terror for him.

The railroads claim they lose money on two-cent fares, but they still find that it pays to keep their trains on the track.

Texas is a pretty big State for the Standard Oil company to be forced out of, and there promises to be a prolonged siege in the Federal courts before the matter is finally adjudicated. But how can the Standard escape paying the trifling fine of $1,600,000?

An English inventor has contrived that the railroad of the future shall consist of one rail on which cars 100 feet long and 20 feet wide may be run at a speed of 200 miles an hour with safety. That will certainly be going some.

Somewhat outspoken is the Penanz (Eng.) Gazette. It remarked recently: "Never has there been in the world's history such a flabby, berring-goddit parody of an administration as that which is feebly trying to control the destiny of the British Empire today."

"How is your husband this morning," asked a lady of an old colored

BACCALAUREATE OF HIGH SCHOOL AT GRANVILLE

PREACHED SUNDAY EVENING AT
GRANVILLE M. E. CHURCH
REV. J. N. EASON.

Audience Composed of Many Patrons of the Village School and Friends of Graduates.

GRANVILLE, O., June 2. The annual baccalaureate exercises of the Granville High school were held Sunday evening in the Methodist church, and were attended by a large congregation of people. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. N. Eason, pastor of the Methodist church, and he very wisely chose the text that he did, as no better one could have been chosen, nor no wiser saying could have been said than came from the speaker during the hour devoted to the graduates of the Granville High school and their friends. Rev. Mr. Eason was assisted in the services by Rev. Mr. Dempster.

The graduating class is composed of the following persons: Thomas Phillips, Ben Forsythe, Payson Linnell, Homer Holler, Mary Linnell, Mamie Geach, Beatrice Kelsey, Irene Richards, Jane Williams, Rachel Jones and Orpha Barr.

The audience was composed of the graduating class, Superintendent L. W. MacKinnon, High school teachers, members of the school board, patrons of the village school and friends of education. The speaker held his hearers in close attention. So closely woven were the paragraphs of the sermon, all seemed anxious to get every one, that the entire baccalaureate could be carried away with them.

No better attention was paid to the speaker than was given him by the graduating class. Every boy and girl was intensely interested and the baccalaureate address of 1907 will not soon be forgotten by those who heard it. Following is a synopsis of the sermon preached by Mr. Eason. We hope that those who were unable to hear it will enjoy reading it, as well as those who were fortunate enough to hear it.

The Comparative Value of Life.
Text—"A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth."—Luke 12:15.

The most thrilling word, in any language, is the word that represents life. It is the starting point of all beings and of all things. Life is the basis of all thought, in thinking, the explanation of all action in activity, the condition of all love in loving. In that one word, life, are wrapped all the possibilities of the universe. It is the most comprehensive of all ideas, because it reaches from the minutest forms of life, up to its infinite and absolute existence in God. Consequently, biology, which treats of the origin and nature of life, ranks among the distinguished sciences. Ever since the microscope has been in use, it has been kept busy peering into that deepest of all secrets—the secret of life. Then what is life? Whence its origin? What its essence? These are the subtle and perplexing questions which, in every age, biology has been trying to answer. You may be surprised to know that these questions are still unanswered. There have been a large number of opinions expressed, hypotheses suggested, and theories broached, but no satisfactory answer has been given.

Life seems to be a simple principle, and therefore incapable of analysis. It can be recognized only by its symptoms. You may ask the sunbeam that has power to illuminate, the lightning that has power to scathe, the dew drop that has power to refresh, the magnet that has power to attract, the eye that has power to see—you may ask all these agents of power the secret of their endowment, and they are dumb. So it is of life. We detect it only by its signs and movements. We call it "growth" in the animal; "thought and reflection" in man. We see its flashes in the eye, we hear its sound through the ear, we are thrilled by its pulsations. But what is life in itself? That is the unanswerable question.

One man has been brave enough to give us a formulated definition of life. As an intellectual curiosity, I will present it to you tonight. Herbert Spencer says: "Life is the definite combination of heterogeneous changes, both simultaneous and successive, in correspondence with external coexistences and sequences." Now, if you know anything more than you did before, you are ahead of me. If any man has ever been made wiser by that definition, he has not had the moral courage to confess it. Life, my friends, is a gift of God: it is "a ray of the Creator's being and of the Creator's beauty." While, therefore, we may not discover its essence, yet there is a thought suggested in the text which we may determine.

My first thought is the comparative worth, the intrinsic value of life. To ascertain the value of any particular form of life we must look at its quality, or what it is that lives. We all know that there are different kinds of life on our globe. We can imagine a time in the past when our world was a lifeless world—a huge mass of inert, inorganic matter rolling through space. But upon this barren soil God deposited the seeds of every living herb, and then the first signs of life appeared in vegetation. Very soon the grass carpeted the globe in emerald, flowers perfumed the unfrequented waves of air, and trees began to reach their perpendicular trunks toward the stars.

On top of vegetable life there was planted animal life, in which I include not only beasts, but insects, birds and fishes, so that in addition to the soil of the globe, the sea and the atmosphere began to swarm with another form of life. In looking at animal life we observe that it is dependent upon the lower forms of vegetable life and in addition to its attributes it also possesses a certain low species of pain and pleasure. It is the first opening of conscious life.

Superinduced on mere animal life, and dependent upon it, as animal life is dependent upon vegetable, is human life, or life as found in man. In him we find for the first time, intelligent, conscious life. Here, then, we have three different kinds of life, differing not simply in degree, but in kind—vegetable, animal and human. It is evident, in determining the comparative value of life, that the highest worth must be ascribed to human life, because it is conscious and intelligent. The meanest brute or thinnest bird is of more value than the most lovely flower or greatest tree, because brute and bird can feel—are conscious of pain or pleasure, while flowers and trees are not. But the smallest child is of greater value than the sweetest singing bird or noblest brute, because the child has not only conscious life, but intelligent conscious life. All human life throbs with pulsations of Divinity, and in that one fact, of possessing intelligent consciousness, man has the pledge that all preceding forms of life were preparatory for him, and that they find their highest value in ministering to his good. All nature was made for man, and her continuance is dependent on man's continuance. If man had been destroyed when he sinned, nature would have been destroyed. If you were to imagine the work of creation as having stopped before it reached man, you could see no reason for creation; but as soon as man appears on the scene, then you can see how all nature has its value in relation to him. Of what use were stars if no human eye to gaze on stars? Of what use were flowers if no human being to enjoy their beauty and fragrance? Hence, after God had formed the imposing upholstery of the world; after He had roofed it with unpillared canopy all studded with stars; after He had garlanded it with rivers and planted it with gardens; after He had hung up its mountain slopes and covered them with forests; after He had enthroned the moon as queen over the firmament of night and the sun as the king of day, then he introduced man, and by his side a sweet companion—the priest and priestess of this magnificent temple of nature. We must therefore admit that a man's life in itself is a grand phenomenon. If man's life consists only in natural endowments it is a profound fact, a momentous verity.

LIFE ROOT IN ZOA-PHORA

Proof of the Value of This Important Medicinal Agent

FOR WOMEN

Great Physicians Recommend It for the Cure of Woman's Ills.

The National Standard Dispensary is a medical work of nearly two thousand pages, acknowledged as standard authority by the medical profession everywhere. It was edited by such world-famous physicians as Robert Amory Hare, M. D., professor of therapeutics and materia medica in the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Henry H. Rusby, M. D., of Columbia University, New York, and others of equal prominence. This great medical authority describes the action and use of the best medicines recognized in the pharmacopoeias of the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, with numerous references to others. In discussing the properties of Life Root, this best of authorities explains the wonderful action of this medicine on the delicate menstrual organism of women. The remedy favors an increased discharge when the menses are too scanty and painful, and regulates the menstrual function when irregular or too profuse. Notice that the effect is to regulate and restore normal functions of these organs, no matter whether the trouble be suppressed menstruation, or its opposite, profuse discharge.

This medicinal plant, Life Root, with others of equal value, are found in Zoa-Phora. Your druggist will supply you with this remedy, already prepared, compounded in just the right proportions, and put up in sealed, sterilized, dollar bottles. Ask him for Zoa-Phora—no further explanation will be needed. Each package contains complete and explicit directions for using the medicine, also a copy of Dr. Pengelly's advice to women—a little book of great value, explaining about the various forms of womanly weakness and disease and the proper treatment for their cure.

If you desire more information about Zoa-Phora, the Zoa-Phora Company, Kalamazoo, Mich., will cheerfully answer all inquiries. No higher authority regarding the value and use of a medicine is known than that above mentioned. In addition, and to prove conclusively to the most skeptical, the value of Zoa-Phora, we have the personal experience of Dr. Pengelly, the formulator of Zoa-Phora, who used this prescription constantly in his private practice for many years in treating the various diseases and ailments to which the delicate organism of woman is singularly subject.

MAN WAS KILLED
BY INTERURBAN
SATURDAY NIGHT

MOTORMAN SAW BODY LYING ACROSS THE TRACK ON A TRESTLE.

But Could Not Stop His Car in Time to Prevent Crushing Him—It May Be Suicide.

A horrible accident occurred on the Columbus, Newark and Zanesville Interurban railway Saturday night, just west of the trestle spanning Alum creek, a short distance east of Columbus. Train 34, car 63, in charge of Conductor H. Smith and Motorman F. Bolt, left Columbus Saturday night at 8 o'clock for the east and was pulling up on the long trestle on the Norfolk & Western railroad.

When about half way over the trestle the motorman was horrified to see the form of a man lying across the rails. Motorman Bolt did all in his power to stop the car, but without avail, and it passed over the man, crushing his head and one arm. The car was finally stopped and the body was taken back to Miller avenue and Mound street by the crew of the car. Fisher's ambulance was called and body was taken to the morgue, where it was viewed by Coroner Murphy. The man was thought to be about 25 years old.

The one paper found in his pocket was torn to bits and only by piecing together the fragments was the name "L. E. Hague" distinguished.

In making a further search of his clothing a return ticket to Denison over the Pan Handle road, dated June 1, and good for five days, was found, which would indicate that the man was from Denison. On investigation it was found that the man's parents reside near Denison and his remains were shipped to that point Monday afternoon.

It is a mystery how the man came to be in the position he was when he was struck by the car.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS ELECT OFFICERS

REPRESENTATIVES OF ALL THE
SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN LICK-
ING COUNTY.

Elected Mr. Harry Scott President at a Meeting in Central Church of Christ Sunday.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic township Sunday School conventions ever held in Licking county was that of Sunday when representatives of all the Sunday Schools of Newark township met in the Central Church of Christ. The program had been carefully prepared and was a delight from its opening until the finish. Addresses were made by Mr. Holmes of Granville, and Attorney H. D. Baker, of Zanesville. The earnest prayers, the helpful, stirring addresses, the reports of what had been accomplished during the year and the plans propounded for more extensive work for the future, all served to uplift, instruct and inspire every one whose privilege it was to be in attendance. The interest never waned from the beginning of the convention to the end.

Officers elected for the coming year are:

President—Harry Scott.
Vice president, Hammond Burcher.
Secretary and treasurer—Miss Martha Lumley.

Home Department secretary—Mrs. Maggie Evans.
Primary secretary—Mrs. Gideon Lippincott.

At the Central Church of Christ on Sunday evening the graduation exercises of the normal class of twelve members who have finished their teachers' training course, were held. The address was delivered by Mr. H. E. Baker, who spoke on "Christ's Idea of Greatness." The graduates were given their diplomas by the Ohio State Sunday School Association.

Highly interesting graduation and promotion exercises were held in the Central Church of Christ Sunday school Sunday morning.

IDLEWILDE PARK OPENED SUNDAY

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a Good Crowd Was Out.

Idlewild Park Casino opened yesterday in a blaze of glory. Notwithstanding the inclement weather great crowds turned out to see the two opening performances of what is undoubtedly one of the cleverest vaudeville bills ever presented in Newark. Chas. Heclow responded to numerous encores and tickled the audience immensely with his clean, clever comedy. Maria Heclow as a dainty little dancer, can have but few equals and certainly no superiors.

The Rosa family kept the audience convulsed while as musicians every one marvelled at their ability and versatility. The concluding act of the performance was an acrobatic feature by the famous Fredericks family, the sensational European acrobats, whose performance was marvelous in the extreme.

All in all the entire entertainment was in an exceptionally high plane, and it is certainly to be wondered at that such an aggregation of artists can be secured to play at such a low price of admission. The same bill throughout the week with Saturday matinee.

MRS. JOSEPH LEES

Makes Statement Regarding Arrest of Her Little Son Who Was Sent to Reformatory.

Mrs. Joseph Lees, 116 East Locust street, called at the Advocate office Monday to make a statement regarding the action last Friday that resulted in sending her boy, Harry, to the Lancaster Industrial School.

Mrs. Lees said that on Friday she and her husband who is employed at the Grubbs livery stable, went into the country five miles southeast of Jacksonstown, to get a load of corn, and that when they returned home that night they found that Harry had been arrested and sent to Lancaster.

Mrs. Lees who says that Harry is now nine years old, is the victim of circumstances; that the facts regarding him were misrepresented and that the child, hardly old enough to know right from wrong, admitted when frightened that he, with others had stolen some tools. Mr. Lees says it is preposterous to allege that a boy nine years old could be the leader of a gang of boys ranging from 9 to 14.

The only comfort Mrs. Lees has is the knowledge that her boy will now be cared for at Lancaster and that the training he will receive there will be a benefit to him. She stoutly denies the insinuation that the boy had not been bathed recently and said that Harry and each of the other five children living at home are given a daily bath.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, June 2.—The annual graduating exercises of the Cicero Literary society of Doane Academy, were held Friday evening when a fine program was rendered by the Seniors. In presenting the diplomas appropriate remarks were made by Dr. Hundley and Dr. Colwell. Diplomas were given Nixon W. Coe, Harry Diebel, V. H. Hoppe and H. Nottingham.

The Betas are wearing colors for Laurence Chaffee.

The following invitations have been received by a large number of young men: "Chi Psi Delta, at home, Monday evening, June 10, 8 to 10."

The annual Senior-Faculty ball game is being played on Beaver Field this afternoon before a large and admiring crowd.

Tuesday afternoon the annual ball game between the Sophomores and Freshmen will be pulled off on Beaver Field. There is considerable rivalry between the two classes and the game promises to be exceedingly interesting.

The Kappa Phi Sorority have sent out the following invitations: "Kappa Phi, Tuesday evening, June 11, 8 to 11."

A young man should go to college to learn citizenship in the broadest sense of the term. And he should not only learn what it is, but should learn to practice it. Failing in this, he has practically proved himself a fizzle, however brilliant or sensational his achievements may be in foot ball or Greek.

Highly interesting Children's Day exercises were held at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

The Phi Gams are wearing royal purple for Mr. Gifford and Mr. Robert Buxton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilleary of Fremont, O., who have been visiting friends and relatives in Granville and vicinity for the past week have gone to Springfield, O., where they will visit their son, Henry, for a few days.

Miss Ella Henry of Columbus spent Sunday with friends in the village.

Thomas Morrison, a prominent business man of Hamilton, O., was in the village Saturday on business.

Mr. Fred Jewett of Aberdeen, South Dakota, is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

Lawrence Thomas of Xenia, who has been here for several days, has gone to Columbus, where he will visit his brother James a few days before returning home.

On account of the inclemency of the weather, the ball game scheduled to be played Saturday afternoon between Ohio University and Denison at Athens, was cancelled by Manager Forsythe of the local team.

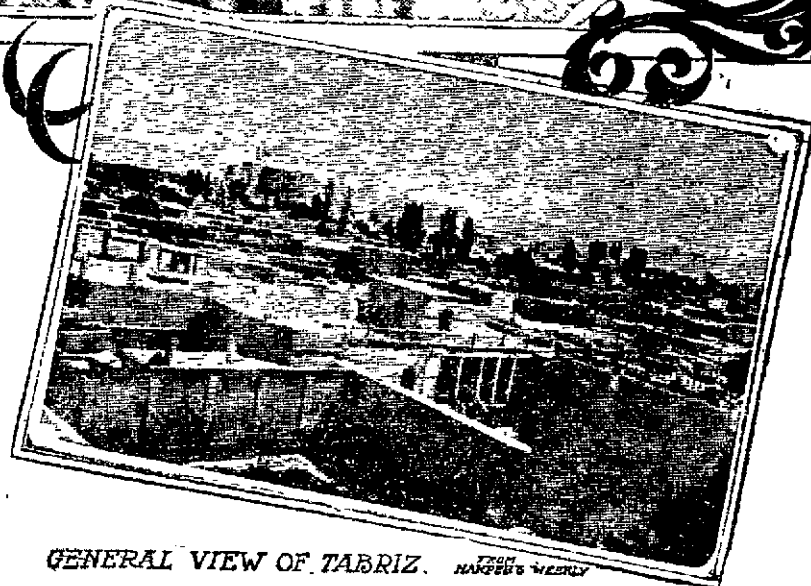

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis of Newark were in Granville Sunday afternoon.

Sunday morning the pupils of the primary and intermediate Sunday schools held their Children's Day exercises in the Baptist church. An exceedingly interesting program was given and good music was furnished by the Sunday School orchestra and choir.

The track meet between Otterbein and Denison, which was to have been held here Saturday, was called off by Manager Huffman of Denison, on account of the inclement weather.

GENERAL VIEW OF TABRIZ.

Teheran, May 30.—Authentic news from Tabriz has reached here that Rahim Kahn's son, with 8,000 Celibates, had sacked and pillaged the village of Aboul, three miles from Tabriz, killing 250 of the villagers. The Shah informed the Assembly and ordered that Rahim Kahn, who is in Teheran, should be put in chains. His son has been recalled here.

EVERYBODY TALKING ABOUT WEATHER
SUNDAY IN NEWARK A RECORD BREAKER
JUNE MONTH OF STORM SAYS HICKS

In Newark Sunday June 2, 1907, was more like a winter day than one at the edge of summer. People had their gas irons booming and those who ventured out of doors wore their overcoats. Some say that "Squire Scott" had on his ear muffs but that may not be true. There was no ice cutting on the canal and very little was done in the ice wagons about town. The lowest temperature recorded in the middle of the day was 49 but for June 2 it should have been 80 or 85.

"The weather" has come to be much more than a casual topic of conversation this spring; it is almost a continuous performance tragedy. Everybody seems to have lost all confidence in the official "forecasters" and has gone to guessing, each one on his own account, feeling that he cannot possibly do worse than those whose business it is to know what the weather is going to do.

One of the best guessers in Newark is Henry Lucas, who last February predicted the three May frosts almost to a dot. Henry says that warm weather is now just around the corner.

A lot of people are pinning their faith in weather predictions on Hicks, the St. Louis astronomer, whose almanac for this year, made up last fall, has been hitting the nail on the head in a most remarkable manner recently. Last month Hicks seemed to be making the weather, so closely did his predictions materialize, notwithstanding the fact that it was one of the most freakish months ever experienced. Hence Hicks' predictions for June are worthy of some respect.

Hicks says that June is to be one of the stormiest months of recent years, and even more freakish than May or April—"phenomenal perturbations will reach some sort of crisis in earth and sky" is the way he puts it. The first storm period will extend from the 2d to the 7th, beginning with marked rise of temperature and falling barometer and culminating in severe thunderstorms, cloudbursts, hail and possibly tornadoes.

There is another storm period on the 9th 10th and 11th; excessive warmth, extreme humidity and violent thunder and wind storms will characterize this period, according to Hicks.

From the 15th to the 18th will be one of the most "decisive" months of the whole month; low barometer, humidity and excessive heat will be followed by violent and dangerous lightning storms, in which the destructive winds will reverse all their usual directions and blow from anywhere to everywhere.

The next storms will occur about the 22d and resemble those just mentioned excepting that there will be local rain deluges in widely separated sections and wind vortices of great destructiveness.

The last of the June storms will occur about the 27th, during which there will be heavy rains, wind and chains. His son has been recalled here. There is a great dissatisfaction with the Shah and the crisis is dangerous. The schools are closed, while the students, with banners flying, parade the streets, shouting, "Down with the autocracy! Long live the constitution!"

Four Trainers. 1. Canal Dover, O., at 1. Four Cleveland trainers, William Brinkley, Walter Moore, J. W. Smith and O. C. Wirt, were severely injured in a wreck in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at New Philadelphia. Brinkley is lying at the Union hospital with internal injuries. The men were asleep in their caboose, having come in from a run several hours before. A brakeman helping to make up a train in the yards threw the wrong switch, letting the engine strike their caboose.

Thousands of Invitations. Columbus, O., June 3.—Next month 150,000 invitations will be mailed from the offices of the state board of agriculture, bidding former residents of the state to return once more to Ohio and participate in the Buckeye homecoming, to be held here the first week in September. The invitations will go to those whose names are in the hands of Secretary T. L. Calvert of the board of agriculture. Contributions have been made from many sources.

Oil Excitement at Millersburg. Millersburg, O., June 3.—This town is in throes of an oil excitement. The people will hold a meeting on June 5 for the purpose of organizing a company to drill for oil and make a good test of the land. About 30 days ago it was noticed that there was a flow of oil from a tile drain. It has continued ever since, and this has led to the belief that there is a pool of oil near the surface of the earth in the vicinity of the opening.

Weather in 1816. The following was recently printed in a Kentucky paper, being a clipping from the Detroit Free Press: "Copenhagen, La.—T. H. D.—In what year was it that we had no summer? Frost and ice occurred at various times. No crops were raised; much distress prevailed. Government aid was needed and given. State the date on which snow and ice occurred. 'Answer—In 1816 snow and sleet fell on seventeen different days in May. In June there was frost every night but three. The snow was five inches deep for several days in succession in the interior of New York and from ten inches to three feet in Vermont and Maine. July was cold and frosty; ice formed as thick as window panes in every one of the New England States. August was the worst month. Ice formed an inch in thickness and killed nearly every green thing in the United States and Europe."

The above was handed the Advocate as a clipping by Mr. J. L. Knight, well known throughout Ticking county, now a resident of Hopewell township. Mr. Knight says that his father, who lived in New England when a boy, remembered the weather of that year so well that he frequently described the same conditions as are given in the above extract.

PRES. ROOSEVELT AND SEC'Y. TAFT ARE DENOUNCED

OHIO SOCIALISTS MEET IN ANNUAL CONVENTION AT COLUMBUS.

NO CHANGE IN PLATFORM

Principal News of the Buckeye State Told Briefly for Busy Advocate Readers.

Columbus, O., June 3.—The Socialist party of Ohio at the closing session of its state convention here adopted resolutions extending sympathy to Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, officials of the Western Federation of Miners, accused of complicity in the assassination of Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, and denouncing President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft. Among the delegates who sat in the convention was Harry Wells, a son of the late founder of the city of Wellston, O., and a nephew of Senator Foraker. The convention decided not to revise its platform this year and discharged the committee after its report. If John G. Willert is continued in office of secretary the headquarters will remain in Cleveland. However, in the nominations made for the place of secretary, four other cities are represented as follows: Clyde C. Wright, Columbus; E. L. Rodgers, Dayton; W. H. Walts, Sandusky; Thomas C. Devine, Toledo, and John W. Willert, Cleveland. The election will be by referendum vote. A permanent organizer was provided for at a salary of $75 a month.

Bombarded the Parsonage. Cleveland, O., June 3.—Two hundred men bombarded the residence of Rev. Vitus Hribar, pastor of Saint Vitus' Catholic church, Volley after volley of stones were hurled against the door and through the windows. Thirty arrests were made by the police after a riot call had been turned in. The priest, summoned to the street by a ruse, withstood the fusillade until a mob attempted to drag him from his porch. Then he took refuge inside the house. Feeling against him has resulted in a number of disorderly demonstrations recently, but he has refused to leave the parish.

Canal Dover, O., at 1. Four Cleveland trainers, William Brinkley, Walter Moore, J. W. Smith and O. C. Wirt, were severely injured in a wreck in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at New Philadelphia. Brinkley is lying at the Union hospital with internal injuries. The men were asleep in their caboose, having come in from a run several hours before. A brakeman helping to make up a train in the yards threw the wrong switch, letting the engine strike their caboose.

It has continued ever since, and this has led to the belief that there is a pool of oil near the surface of the earth in the vicinity of the opening.

Wife Sought Divorce. Cleveland, O., June 3.—Mrs. Martha Roberts, 18, was fatally wounded by her husband, William Roberts, 12 years her senior, in the home of her mother. Roberts then turned the pistol upon himself and fired a bullet into his brain. He died in an ambulance on the way to the hospital. Roberts had called at the house a few minutes previously and vainly entreated his wife to withdraw her suit for divorce.

Dedication of Monument. Canton, O., June 3.—Plans for the dedication of the McKinley monument in Westlawn cemetery will be completed at a meeting of the trustees of the McKinley National Memorial Association in this city Wednesday, June 19. Vice President Fairbanks, Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, Cornelius Bliss and ex-Governor Herrick will attend the meeting.

Strike of Machinists. Cleveland, O., June 3.—Every union machinist working on any but the nine-hour system will strike. The general order was issued by the executive board of the machinists' union. Shop managers endeavored to have the demand postponed until Sept. 1 without avail. One thousand men will obey the order, it is said.

McKinley Memorial Service. Canton, O., June 3.—The services at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday were a memorial in honor of Mrs. McKinley, who was a member of that church. Rev. E. O. Burton, D. D., who conducted the funeral services of Mrs. McKinley Tuesday, delivered the address. The McKinley row, which until recently had been draped since the death of President McKinley, was reserved for the immediate relatives of Mrs. McKinley. The church edifice was crowded. A draped portrait of Mrs. McKinley was placed in front of the rostrum. The hymns included "Lead Kindly Light," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and other numbers which were favorites of President and Mrs. McKinley.

Demand Wage Increase. Lima, O., June 3.—Twenty-five boilermaker helpers employed at the shops of the Lake Erie and Western went out on a strike here. They are demanding a uniform wage scale. The men have been drawing from 14 to 20 cents an hour and they now ask for a uniform wage of 22 cents per hour.

Attempted to Ford Stream. Franklin, O., June 3.—Fred Moory, vice president of the Franklin bank and city councilman, was drowned here in a creek. His wife was rescued, but is in a critical condition. Moory's body was recovered. High water had washed out the bridge and they attempted to ford the stream.

Fired by a Hobo. Worcester, O., June 3.—Fire damaged the planing mill here owned by County Commissioner Harrison. Investigation developed the fact that there had been no fire in the building during the day, and that a match was applied by a tramp, who was refused a meal by a woman living near the plant.

Fatal Quarrel. Gallipolis, O., June 3.—Ottie Lewis was fatally shot by Tube Stribling. Both of them are colored. Stribling got away after the shooting and fled to Pleasant, W. Va., but he was apprehended there and is now in jail awaiting arraignment.

Representative Stevens. Columbus, O., June 3.—Word of the death of N. S. Stevens, a member of the house of representatives from Clermont county, has been received by Secretary of State Thompson. The funeral was held at Point Isabelle.

GEORGIA DAY AT EXPOSITION JUNE 10

President Roosevelt Makes His Second Visit and is Orator of the Day.

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—Two addresses by Theodore Roosevelt, a magnificent naval demonstration on Hampton Roads, the presentation of a silver service to the battleship Georgia, a military escort for the president to be composed of Georgia troops, Virginia cadets and West Point and Annapolis cadets, and a reception to the President by the Georgia commission at "Bulloch Hall," the Georgia State Building, are the main features of the celebration of "Georgia Day," June 10th, at the Jamestown Exposition.

The tentative program for Monday, June 10th, is announced by Secretary Gwynn T. Shepperd, master of ceremonies of the Exposition.

According to the program, President Roosevelt, with the members of his cabinet, Governor Terrell of Georgia, and President Mitchell of the Georgia commission, will arrive in Hampton Roads early Monday morning on the battleship Georgia. They will receive upon passing Old Point, a salute from the battleships in the Roads, where the entire Atlantic fleet will again be assembled in honor of the second visit of the President to the Exposition.

THE HEART CAN'T STAND RHEUMATIC ACID POISONING.

To Free and Correct the Blood a Uric-O Treatment is Advised.

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acid are there ready to spring and grip tightly the muscles controlling the heart's action. Don't neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system, or sooner or later they will overcome you.

The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand-like deposits in the muscles, forces the kidneys to perform those duties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure Rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric-O is the one remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric-O is a liquid taken internally, 3 times daily and does not excite any morphia odium or other so-called "pain deadeners." It is good for rheumatism in any form. Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Articular Rheumatism all yield readily to Uric-O. Write the makers of the remedy and they can tell you of many wonderful cures that Uric-O has made right here in your own home town.

It sells for 75c and $1.00 the bottle or you can obtain a trial bottle free by writing to The Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold and recommended in Newark by Frank D. Hall, North Side Square.

Egg Baking Powder Is FREE From Tartaric Acid or Alum

There are several brands of bad baking powder on the market. Look out for them!

Some kinds have Cream of Tartar in them. Others have Tartaric Acid or Alum. All of these substances are corrosive poisons!

Of course these bad baking powders do not contain enough dangerous ingredients to kill anyone—just enough to produce an irritating effect on the stomach and bowels.

Bad baking powder is one of the great causes of dyspepsia and nervous prostration.

You can protect yourself from all danger and insure better baking results than you ever had before, by using the famous Egg Baking Powder.

Egg Baking Powder is made from wheat phosphates and egg albumen.

The wheat phosphates which form the acid ingredient have both food value and tonic properties. On the other hand the Cream of Tartar and Tartaric Acid of some high priced baking powder or the Alum of low-price brands has no food value at all.

After heat and moisture have been added, as in baking, this acid forms strong metal salts which are highly injurious.

Don't allow a grocer to sell you a baking powder that breeds dyspepsia! If it is free from Cream of Tartar, Tartaric Acid or Alum, the label will say so!

Insist on pure, wholesome, Egg Baking Powder—it's safe. Not only healthful, but has wonderful leavening power. Insures best baking.

All good grocers sell "Egg." Send us a postal for free copy of The Egg Cook Book.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS ABOUT "PANAMA ZONE"

(Communicated.)

As there have been so many unfavorable comments by the county commissioners in their work already performed in what is called the "Panama zone," just west of Newark, I wish to ask them a few questions for general information.

Why don't they redeem their promises so long and often made and build a bridge over Racoon at the intersection of West Church street?

What legal right had they to dig a private ditch when the construction of that ditch made the public highway, the only property over which the commissioners have any jurisdiction, in a worse condition than before the digging of the ditch?

How many thousands of dollars more will it cost to build a bridge over the created long span of Racoon (Panama ditch) than over the Racoon alone as it originally ran?

Will not the span be twice as long? How many hundred dollars more will it take to build and maintain the extra abutments and levees?

What was the real object of Graham and Jury (we understand Lambert opposed) in digging the ditch?

What benefits can possibly accrue from it?

Is it true that Graham and Jury now lay the blame on our County Surveyor?

Would they have a right when riding over the Canal, and observing a golden opportunity in some marsh field, to stop and sit down at the expense of the owner and his neighbors, when it would injure the public highway?

Is it absolutely true to a moral certainty that Graham and Jury are holding this bridge back in construction of that train and Lambert-Congratulate?

Would it not be wise at the next election to select some level-headed, competent men, either Democrats or Republicans, who will look after the interests of the people and not to perpetrate such a vast office?

A Nurse's Story

If you are a sufferer from headache, neuralgia, or pain from any cause you should read the following letter from a nurse.

"For sometime I have felt it my duty to write you. I was having a doctor twice a week for headache. All he did for me was to give something to ease the pain. Sometimes the pain was so severe that I could not speak and members of my family stood over me and gave me medicine every fifteen minutes until I was so weak I could not get up. I read the circular very carefully, and found my case described exactly. I bought a bottle of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and I felt I was getting better so soon that I decided to try a box and took them until I was so much better that I was about the house all the afternoon. I have not had a doctor for headache since. When he met me sometime after he wanted to know how I was, and I told him what I had done and he said: 'I could tell you of many similar cases.' MISS JOSEPHINE ROHN, 170 W. Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses 25 cents. Never sold bulk. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind."

DECORATED GRAVES

AT ROCKY FORK

Sunday morning two wagon loads of the members of the G. A. R., together with a drum corps, left the city at 10 o'clock, and they, with the I. O. O. F. of Perryton, and a large audience besides, were called to order and a short program was rendered commemorating the comrades and brothers who are buried there.

After the decoration services were over, the G. A. R. went to the Barnes cemetery and held similar services over the graves of thirteen departed comrades. In all 26 old soldiers' graves were decorated, and the I. O. O. F. brothers decorated five.

In all, the combined affair was unique; the community being a stronghold for the order, and furnished a large quota of soldiers for our national defense, and from every point of view the services were tasteful and appropriate.

Mr. Miller had charge of the program, Col. Wood was the orator for the soldiers, and W. G. Patterson for I. O. O. F.

MR. BRAND GOES TO WASHINGTON

A social meeting of the directors and stockholders of the Gladston Gold and Copper Mining company, and all interested, will be held at the office of Justice M. O. Nash on Tuesday evening to discuss and pollinate over the recent excellent reports concerning the property. Mr. B. W. Brand, who has been over the field, is here and will talk about the mines and exhibit samples of ore taken from them. Mr. Brand will leave for the Cheesaw country, in Washington, this week, where he will engage in ranching. He will also look after the interests of the mining company.

Gardner and Williams are doing nicely in their dancing and will put on a number that is sure to please the audience.

The bird warblings and impersonating of Z. Dunn would be hard to describe. He just simply can't be beat, that's all.

Garrison and Williams were given a description last Saturday. They are both artists in their line and one would have to travel a long way before finding better talent.

"The Zip Bros, or in plain language 'The puds of the gymnasium' will show what a full season of hard work in the gym will do for young Americans."

Another large vote was recorded Saturday in the Jamestown Exposition contest. All day long coupon and special ballots poured into the Advocate office and the voting continued until after 9 p. m. though today's figures give only the votes cast up to 9 o'clock, as that was the hour set for the close of the contest for the award of the beautiful special prizes offered by the H. H. Griggs Company and the Powers-Miller Company.

The vote up to 9 p. m. on Saturday amounted to exactly $36,861, making the grand total $16,725, or more than a half million.

Miss Mildred Hays of District No. 7, whose address is R. F. D. No. 4, Utica, Ohio, having made the largest per centage gain, wing the handsome silk dress pattern offered by the Griggs Company, and Miss Hannah Beaver of District No. 10, R. F. D. No. 3, Pataskala, Ohio, who won the diamond ring, gets the elegant silk parasol offered by the Powers-Miller Company for having cast the largest vote during the week. Miss Beaver cast 28,260 votes during the week, and Miss Hays 11,936. Miss Hays increased her vote 149 per cent while Miss Beaver's increase was 85 per cent. Miss Emery was a close second to Miss Hays in her percentage increase.

A number of the contestants made large gains during the week as may be seen in the table comparing the present vote with that of a week ago.

This week special prizes for the best results are given by the National
